Magellan Odyssey is the brainchild of Mikael Audebert, CEO and founder of Art In Voyage, created as a way to celebrate the travel company's 10th anniversary. "Magellan Odyssey was designed with the intent to escape the usual destinations by focusing on exclusive experiences, and avoiding crowded cities and overdone areas," says Audebert. "We put a great deal of care into identifying and studying destinations guests might not visit on their own—because they are remote or hard to reach, or because other tour companies don't offer the same level of luxury access.

"We also pay an extraordinary amount of attention to the customization process, so we can offer all guests a more refined experience should they desire. With Magellan Odyssey, we have designed a bespoke journey that does not fall within the one-size-fits-all category or budget. As a result, we have been able to price our world tour 'right' while allowing guests who are looking for more to build upon our core program for a truly personal experience."

Unlike competing tour operators offering similar experiences, Magellan Odyssey offers a full range of concierge services including:

- Full-time, Business Concierge: A dedicated business concierge will coordinate communications between business travelers and their respective offices, while ensuring the tools are always available to minimize the impact of their travel experience on their businesses
- Dedicated tour photographer: Guests can stay "in the moment" while touring knowing that a professional photographer and videographer is capturing the voyage. Guests will receive a photo album filled with memories upon returning home.
- Personal shopper: For travelers who love to collect mementos large and small, a personal shopper will be available to help source items, identify shopping opportunities and coordinate shipping purchases back home.
- Private helicopter where available and luxury ground transfers at every destination
- VIP luggage handling: To simplify the luggage handling for guests, there will be several times during the journey in which a shipping service will handle the safe return of luggage that's no longer needed—for example, winter clothing will be waiting for guests in Bordeaux and will be shipped back to home base after departing Finland. Laundry service is available throughout, and all baggage handling is included.
- Logistics management: From visas to testing and entry requirements, Art In Voyage will handle all travel logistics for guests.
